FEEL LIKE A MODEL FOR A MODEST PRICE

Hot videos like Jigga's "Change Clothes," with supermodels strutting down the catwalk, intensifies the already glamorous world of high fashion. But for most of us, the closest we come to couture style is gazing at the glossy pages of our favorite magazines—aha!

Well, if you can't afford a pair of Versace's petal-powdered pedal pushers, splurge on their new Floral Passion makeup collection instead. This garden of hot pinks, greens and oranges is only half of the allure—the ornate packaging with a gold bust of Versace will make even the most practical penny pincher feel like a princess ($15 to $32 at sephora.com).

LOGO LOVER Slip on a pair of these bold Chanel shades and be prepared to turn heads. The bright diamante double C on the wide tortoise arms of these rimless specs take logo lovin' to a whole nother level. But you can't be financially frugal when you want to be at the height of fashion flaunting. The price of sporting a pair of these attention-grabbing, one-of-a-kind sunglasses? The cost of being confident that few can copy your flawless fashion sense? Priceless. Letting everyone know that you're on fire, fly and adorned in the finest can't be measured in silver or gold (Chanel Rimless Sunglasses, 420 bones at Sunglass Hut).

light it up

LIMITED-EDITION PHON TURNS UP THE HEAT

IF "FLASHY" IS your mi- name, then the Motorola i733 limited edition mobile phone is for you. Multi-colored lights come to life when you receive a call or open this metallic bluish-purple, flip-style phone. And you thought ring tones were fun? Available for $549 exclusively at Bloomingdale's stores, the four-ounce i733 features a slew of amenities including turn-by-turn driving directions, maps, a two-way radio, an integrated speakerphone and a brilliant color screen display capable of up to 65,000 colors. "This phone is for those who appreciate both fashion and function," says Lea Fasano, public relations manager for the Motorola iDEN Subscriber Group. Go ahead, spice things up.

off the cuff

RYANKENNY GIVES BROTHERS ALTERNATIVES TO HIGH STYLE

JAY-Z, JERMAINE DUPRI AND USHER have all become rock stars! Okay, not really. But when these music heavyweights take it from the concert stage to the boardroom, they make sure that they are wearing a subtle touch of bling from hot new RyanKenny line. These icy cuff links (created by jewelry designer Lorraine Schwartz) come in a variety of zodiac and animal formations crafted of precious stones and diamonds and set in 18-karat solid yellow and white gold. Complete with a $500 and up price tag, RK cuff links set the new shine standard (ryankennyonline.com).
